BRYSTON BHA-1 REFERENCE

2024

The Bryston BHA-1 headphone amp is an impeccably designed and solidly built amplification device for speakers that you just happen to wear on your head.

It has a fastidiously clean and neutral sound quality with an abundance of power and connectivity options that will allow almost any headphone to shine on its own merits or lack thereof.

In a time of the increasing function and multipurpose usability in more and more products, it is nice to see something like the BHA-1 that is designed strictly to perform a single dedicated function with utmost precision and reliability. Combine that with Bryston's standard 20-year warranty and you have something that is the audio equivalent of heirloom furniture.

If you are in the market for a top-class headphone amplifier and don't need a built-in DAC, you really cannot go wrong with choosing the BHA-1.

Highly recommended.
